DREAMLAND PARK ADDED TO CITY'S BIG FREE BEACH WON BY EVENING WORLD

Board of Estimate Votes to Acquire 7-Acre Tract at Upset Price of $1,000,000.

VOTE NEARLY A UNIT.

Plan for Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Rockaway Park Is Also Sanctioned.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment to-day adopted The Evening World's plan for a park on the Dreamland site at Coney Island by voting to purchase a plot of seven acres, including all the Dreamland shore front, at an upset price of $1,000,000. Condemnation proceedings will be instituted at once, and if the award is less than $1,000,000 the Dreamland Company will accept it, but, at any rate, the city will not have to pay more than $1,000,000.

At the same time the Board authorized the purchase of 250 acres of land with a mile of shore front at Rockaway Park. A sanatorium for children suffering from bone tuberculosis, for which $350,000 has already been guaranteed by charitable citizens, will be erected on the land and the beach will be thrown open to the people.

It has been a little less than five months since The Evening World, while the ruins of Dreamland were yet ablaze, started its campaign for an extension of the park and beach front already owned by the city at Coney Island. The Dreamland fire occurred May 23.

The Evening World's idea met with the instant approval of the people and of the city officials. It was plain that the city must have seaside parks, playgrounds and free access to the beaches, and that the land can never be bought cheaply as now.

PROBLEM OF INCREASED SEASIDE CROWDS IS SOLVED.

Borough President McAneny was particularly enthusiastic for the plan. He is an observer of conditions at Coney Island and figured that when the five-cent fare to Coney Island is a matter of fact—which The Evening World believes it will be ere long—there will be an immense increase in the summer crowds. Until the plan of taking possession of the Dreamland tract was thought of the city was confronted with the problem of handling additional hundreds of pleasure-seekers at a place where the open spaces are being rapidly covered with buildings, and access to the beach has been made more difficult year after year.

To-day's authorization opens the way for a seaside park or ornamental beach at Coney Island extending along the shore front all the way from the foot of the Boulevard westward to West Tenth street, where the Giant Coaster stands. There is no intention of improving the land with shrubbery, grass or flowers. It will be made into a clean,

MINISTER NOT SLAYER AS DISPATCH STATED.

Name of Rev. James A. Burns of Kentucky Confused With That of Boy Accused of Shooting.

(By United Press.)
MANSFIELD, Ky., Oct. 19.—A. J. Burns, a boy believed to be demented, is held here charged with the murder of Perry Burns, who was assassinated from ambush Tuesday night. The assassin's name was confused in dispatches sent from here to the United Press yesterday with that of Rev. James A. Burns, President of Oneida Baptist College who is now in New York on business.

Rev. James A. Burns has no connection whatever with the case, and the use of his name in this connection was an error, entirely inadvertent and due to the mistake of the correspondent who wrote the item.

HOW EVENING WORLD WON GREATER SEASIDE PARK IN 5 MONTHS.

May 28—Dreamland destroyed by fire and The Evening World began its fight for a Greater Seaside Park at Coney Island through the city's acquisition of the burned area.

June 2—Borough Presidents McAneny of Manhattan, Steers of Brooklyn, Gresser of Queens and Cromwell of Richmond declare for The Evening World's plan.

June 5—Pastors all over the city, regardless of denomination, telegraph The Evening World their approval of the purchase of more beach for the people at Coney Island.

June 6—The Aldermanic Committee on Parks, of which Alexander S. Dreacher is chairman, reports in favor of the purchase of the Dreamland site, which report is adopted by the Board of Aldermen.

July 13—Comptroller Prendergast, President Mitchell of the Board of Aldermen and Borough President Steers of Brooklyn vested with power by the Board of Estimate to negotiate for the purchase.

Oct. 19—The Board of Estimate finally adopts the report of the Special Committee on Dreamland site and formally authorizes its purchase at $1,000,000 or less, thus crowning with victory the fight made by The Evening World.

"YOUR HUSBAND LOVES ME MORE," CAME OVER PHONE

Mrs. Donovan's Suit for $100,000 Was Result, and Settlement Was Made To-Day.

With the simple announcement in the Supreme Court to-day that a suit for $100,000 for the alienation of a husband's affections had been settled, was revealed the story of a taxicab romance that led to a night of joy at Coney Island, and other gayeties for several weeks afterward.

The aggrieved wife was Mrs. Michael Joseph Donovan, of No. 125 West One Hundred and Third street, who alleged that Mrs. Agnes Miller Crawford, a well-to-do property owner of Floral Park, L. I., had stolen her husband's love. She declared the first intimation she had of Donovan's alleged infidelity for Mrs. Crawford came over the telephone. A woman called her up and said:

"Your husband is with me. He loves me more than he does you. That is all there is about it."

Mrs. Donovan investigated immediately. Answering the telephone another day, she asked the woman if she was really in love with Donovan.

"No," she said the woman replied. "But I pity him."

The Donovans were married thirteen years ago and, according to Mrs. Donovan, lived happily until Donovan met Mrs. Crawford.

"Then," said Mrs. Donovan, "my husband seemed like a changed man."

On what basis the settlement of the suit was made was not disclosed. Irving Ziegler of No. 27 William street was Mrs. Donovan's lawyer, but neither he nor counsel for Mrs. Crawford would go into details.

14,000 WOMEN TEACHERS TO GET SAME PAY AS MEN

Mayor Approves Bill Putting Both Sexes on Equality in All Grades.

SAYS PEOPLE FAVOR IT.

Tax Rate Will Be Increased Only Four Mills to Raise the $3,500,000.

By putting his approval on the new law giving women teachers in the public schools the same pay as men teachers doing the same work, Mayor Gaynor to-day authorized an increase in the salaries of nearly 14,000 women at a cost to the city of approximately $3,500,000 a year. In a memorandum accompanying his approval the Mayor says:

"After careful consideration I see that I should accept this bill for the city. It gives the women teachers in our common schools equal pay with the men teachers in all the grades. They now have equal pay in some of the grades. The Legislature has passed this bill several times in recent years. Its rule of equal pay to men and women teachers is nothing new. It already prevails in over one-half of the large cities of this country. Instead of lessening the number of men teachers it will increase it. The economical reason for appointing women teachers because they are paid less is removed by it."

TAXPAYERS FAVOR THE MEASURE, MAYOR DECLARES

The principal objection is that the annual budget will be increased about $3,500,000. It is said that the taxpayers object. On the contrary, I find they generally favor this bill as a measure of justice and good policy. Moreover, the will of the whole community must be consulted in matters of government, and not merely that of the corporations and persons who pay the taxes. The interests and wishes of the rent payers are no less important than those of the taxpayers, as every wise land owner knows. We should do better to always say rentpayers and taxpayers, instead of saying taxpayers only.

"And when we consider this addition of $3,500,000 to the next tax budget, it is not so great after all. It is an increase of four mills in the rate. That means that one who now pays $100 in taxes will have to pay 40 cents more, namely, $100.40, by reason of this increase; that one who now pays $250 will have to pay $254; that one who now pays $1,000 will have to pay $1,004, and so on. I am perfectly content as a taxpayer to pay this small increase, and I believe the vast majority of taxpayers feel the same way. They are not so niggardly as some would have us believe."

HOW TO SAVE $4,250,000 ANNUALLY BY ONE MOVE.

"We can save $4,250,000 in other ways. An offer of an operating company to put $100,000 into subway construction was recently rejected by the officials of the city. It is intended instead that the city shall put in all the money, not attending that under the law the city has the very same ownership and control, and the operating company cannot get a longer lease, even though the operating company put up part of the construction money, or all of it. The interest on the bonds to raise $100,000,000 at 4 1/2 per cent, which is the rate we now have to pay, will amount to $4,250,000 annually. Why not save that for beaches and schools?"

"On the hearing before me on this bill one speaker pictured the property of this city as overwhelmed with taxation. I had to inform him that taxation in this city is relatively far lower than in the other cities of the State, and I might have added of the nation. Those who assert otherwise do so ignorantly, or else (which is the case of a few) from a settled purpose to deceive and defame this city in every possible way."

OFFICIALS HERE ARE HONEST AND CAPABLE, MAYOR SAYS.

"And we have good government here. I beg the people of this city to call off the list of heads of departments in our present city government, and say if they find one among them who is otherwise than absolutely honest and competent to fill his place. I felt proud as Mayor of this city to listen to the

AVIATOR ELY KILLED BY FALL AT GEORGIA FAIR

Aeroplane Crashes to Ground as He Makes First Circle in Ascent at Macon.

MACON, GA., Oct. 19.—Eugene Ely, the aviator, was killed by a fall while making a flight at the State Fair Grounds to-day.

Ely had just risen from the ground and was making his first turn in a dip over the crowd when his machine plunged to the ground.

Hundreds watched in horror as attendants rushed to the aeroplane and lifted the aviator from the wreckage. Ely was badly mangled, but still living. He was rushed to a hospital where he died in a short time.

WOMAN'S FIGURE MUST MEASURE EVEN INCHES.

Cloak and Suit Designers Declare Odd Sizes Won't Be Made at All in Coats.

Oh, girls, listen! Do you know how long your coat is going to be next spring? Of course you don't. So the United Cloak and Suit Designers' Association of America, now in session in New York, has arranged it for you.

If you are quite tall, your coat will be 26 inches long. If you are not quite tall, your coat will be 24 inches long. That is the rule. If you don't like it you will have to go without a coat. There will be no 27-inch coats or 25-inch coats or 23-inch coats. Only 26 and 24 inch lengths will be tolerated. Really there was quite a discussion over it at Masonic Hall, where the designers are framing up the styles for next season.

PASTOR RESIGNS AFTER TALK WITH GIRL IN A PARK

Rev. E. B. Shaw of Brooklyn Said He Was Giving Her Advice.

Giving counsel and advice to a young woman in Prospect Park at 8 o'clock in the morning is no part of a pastor's duty in the judgment of the officers of the Memorial Baptist Church, Sixth street and Eighth ave., Brooklyn. That is why the Rev. E. B. Shaw is no longer pastor of the Memorial Church, his resignation having been accepted a week ago.

It appears that some member of Pastor Shaw's flock happened to be in Prospect Park very late at night a few weeks ago and came suddenly upon Dr. Shaw and a young woman of his flock. The pastor evidently did not see his parishioner, who proceeded to diffuse the news of his adventure all through the parish.

Male members of the church volunteered to act as detectives and they trailed their pastor to Prospect Park. The pastor was summoned to a meeting of the church officers and confronted with charges.

He is said to have admitted that he was in Prospect Park with the young woman in the case, but insisted that his sole object was to give her counsel and advice. He took her to the park, he said, because his wife was not home, and he could not take her to his own house because of fear of scandal.

Pastor Shaw handed in his resignation. The officers of the church refused by a vote of fifty to thirty. However, Dr. Shaw insisted on resigning and the church officers gave him a letter of excommunication. He is now looking for another pastorate.

TWO ZEPPELIN BALLOONS START ON LONG TRIPS.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—Two Zeppelin airships, the most recently constructed, are making long trips. The Schwaben I, ascended at Düsseldorf at 4:45 A. M. to-day en route for Berlin by way of Bremen and Hamburg.

The military dirigible Zeppelin IX, left Baden-Baden last evening for a twenty hours trial trip through the Rhine valley and thence southward to the frontier region. A military commission was aboard.

GIRL TELLS JUDGE AT BEDSIDE COURT BRACH IS THE MAN

Magistrate and Attendants, With Prisoner, Hold Hearing in Home of Miss Waugh.

PRISONER IS DEFIANT.

Girl Says the Lord Told Her That Prisoner Is Her Assailant.

Miss Agnes Waugh sat propped between pillows in her bed to-day as a strikingly interested witness in one of the strangest court scenes ever recorded in this section, and testified that the Lord told her that Frank Brach was the man who attacked her on the evening of Oct. 11 as she was returning to her home at No. 488 Eighty-third street, Hay Ridge.

"The moment I touched his hand when the detectives brought him here for me to see him, the Lord told me that he was the right man," she swore. And upon this Divine inspiration she admitted that she hung her entire identification. She swore that the hands of other suspects brought to her no feeling, but that the moment she touched the hand of Brach, she felt as though it was about to strangle her.

Magistrate Hyman had taken his court attendants and ordered the prisoner conveyed to the Waugh home after it had been shown that it would be impossible for the young woman to attend the hearing in the Fifth Avenue Police Court.

HAD TO HOLD HEARING OR LET PRISONER GO.

The extraordinary procedure was made necessary in order to hold Frank Brach, the young giant of nineteen years who is accused of making a brutal attack upon Miss Waugh near her home on the evening of Oct. 11.

After Brach was arrested by Detectives Giesler and Henne and identified by the young woman, Magistrate Hyman told the detectives that he had the power only to hold the prisoner without bail for forty-eight hours in advance of a hearing. They thought that Miss Waugh might to-day be able to appear as a witness against her alleged assailant.

When it became apparent that the girl's physical condition would not permit her to be brought to the courtroom, and the time limit during which the prisoner might be held without bail was about to expire, the Magistrate ordered his clerk and the policemen to transfer the seat of justice from the Fifth Avenue court to the home of the victim of the attack.

When the case against Brach was called to-day the prisoner was again in court with his attorney, Martin Lynch. The same bold conduct characterized the court attitude of the youth that was so marked upon the occasion of his former appearance. After the detectives had stated to the Magistrate that the girl would not be able to leave her home for ten days the Magistrate said:

MAGISTRATE DECIDED TO TAKE PRISONER TO BEDSIDE.

"The Doctor, Mr. Lynch, (addressing counsel for the defendant) says that this girl will not be able to get out for ten days. Inasmuch as this is a serious case, and the prisoner, if innocent, should be released promptly, and if guilty should be punished speedily, I am perfectly willing to hold court at her home to-day."

The defense had no objection and the detectives were ordered to take the prisoner in a patrol wagon and convey him to the Waugh home.

The news that the Court had decided to go to the Waugh home was communicated to the family by telephone. Preparations were made at once to receive the judicial party. Miss Waugh, decidedly better than she had been on any day since her attack, was the most interested person in the home.

She expressed pleasure that the officials had shown a desire to make rapid work of punishing the man. For the first time since her confinement Dr. David Livingston permitted his patient to sit up in bed. Both bandages were taken from her eyes, also for the first time, and the doctor told her that within ten days she might leave the home and in a month she might return to her work. Her physician said that her nervous condition had rapidly im-

IT'S BAD FOR RUZZIE; CAN'T GET A CENT OF BRUNNHILDE'S CASH

Jury Throws Out His $50,000 Suit Against the Woman Who Cast Him Off After Nine Years of Love Making.

FIVE FOR HIM ON FIRST OF THE EIGHT BALLOTS

Jurymen Declare That in Hundreds of Letters Put in Evidence There Was No Promise of Marriage.

Poor old Ruzzielamb. Bad enough to have one's tender heart strings fiddled upon for nine long years by a well preserved Brunnhilde only to be cast aside at the end like an old necktie, and to have to appeal to the public press and the courts of justice for sympathy.

But to have a jury of twelve men wrangle over his case against Helen Woodruff Smith for hours, only to come into court and refuse to give him one cent of the $50,000 damages he had asked for to salve the wounds made by her alleged broken promise to marry—that's enough to make any chorus man get out of step in the sextette number and forget his line: "Oh, girls, here comes a Prince."

WILSON LEAVES CABINET, REPORT IN WASHINGTON

Secretary of Agriculture Said to Have Sent His Resignation to Taft.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Rumors were in circulation here to-day that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson had resigned, to take effect Nov. 15 or as soon as the President may elect, but it was impossible to verify the story.

Secretary Wilson is enroute here from Chicago. Former Representative Nease of Kansas, for some years Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Wilson was mentioned as among those likely to succeed Mr. Wilson.

Prof. L. H. Bailey, dean of the New York Agricultural College and head of ex-President Roosevelt's Country Life Commission, was recently reported as under consideration for the office upon the retirement of the present Secretary. It has been generally understood in official circles that Secretary Wilson desired to stay in the Cabinet until spring, but that he would resign before the next presidential campaign, to avoid the severe strain the campaign would impose upon a Cabinet member of his advanced years.

His friends have not expected him to retire before the regular session of Congress has had a chance to dispose of the investigation of his department and settle the controversy into which he has been plunged in dealing with Dr. Wiley and the Pure Food Law.

It didn't look so bad as that for Ruzzielamb's hopes when Justice Brown adjourned Part XII of the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon, with the jury still out, leaving orders for the jurors to bring in a sealed verdict when court reopened to-day. It began to look as though a number of the Jurymen had really found some justice in Ruzzielamb's plea, and there were many persons in the courtroom to-day who were ready to make small wagers—at good odds—that the verdict would favor Ruzzielamb's suit.

RUZZIELAMB AND BRUNNHILDE BOTH ABSENT FROM COURT.

Neither Miss Smith nor Ruzzielamb seemed to care enough about the finding of the jury to come to court to-day. They were represented by the attorneys who had tried the case and the curious ones who packed the court room and jammed the corridor were plainly disappointed.

When the clerk of the court asked that time honored question: "Gentlemen of the jury have you reached a verdict?" Foreman Joseph W. Weisner stood up, footsloped and one could hear the crack as they strained to catch a reading of that fateful missive.

"We find a verdict in favor of the defendant," read the clerk, and bang went Ruzzielamb's immediate hopes of increasing his income beyond that $10 per week he is getting with the chorus of a musical comedy now playing in Philadelphia.

After it was all over a number of the jurors told what had happened in the jury room.

It took eight ballots to get a unanimous verdict against poor "Ruzzielamb." The first ballot showed seven votes against him and five in his favor. The five who seemed to think Ruzzielamb ought to get some monetary satisfaction for his lacerated soul and worn out heart strings were: No. 3, Maurice Stierer; No. 5, William Wilkinson; No. 8, Sol Rosenthal; No. 9, Edward J. Broderick; and No. 10, John A. Fogelstrom. The general contention raised by these gentlemen was that "Ruzzielamb" had been led along by a woman much older than himself for nine years and that she had made him a broken man and should be made to pay for it.

JURORS HAD NO SYMPATHY FOR EITHER PARTY TO SUIT.

According to "Sol" Rosenthal none of the jurors had any sympathy for either of the principals. They looked at the case merely from the point of law.

"I felt that this boy, like any boy his age, had been taken in tow by a mature woman, wealthy and fascinating, and that he could not be blamed for it," said Mr. Rosenthal. "It also seemed to me that their relationship was such that a marriage promise was a very like-
